

Ashley Nicole Jones

After losing her daughter to a terminal illness, Ashley Jones worked through grief to find joy again. Being a photographer, she would donate portrait sessions to anyone she heard of facing a terminal diagnosis as a way to love it forward. Ashley saw a need for something greater and created Love Not Lost, a nonprofit with a mission to celebrate life and support people in grief. She currently leads Love Not Lost with a vision to grow to a national level, while also speaking, guest-writing, and maintaining a healthy lifestyle with her husband Kyle.
