

1

2

3

Photo courtesy of Artem Nazarov.

4

5

6

1. GAMMA THETA-OKLAHOMA

NEVA HUDIBURGH COCHRAN

Neva, at right, received the Texas Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Outstanding Preceptor Award for her 13 years of leading and mentoring dietetic interns. Neva is a nutrition communications consultant who serves as an advisor and spokesperson for a variety of food and nutrition companies and organizations. Joining Neva for the awards dinner was Beth Kouba Thorson, a registered dietitian nutritionist and Beta Delta-Utah State alumna.

2. SIGMA LAMBDA-AUBURN

KAREN TILLERY

Described as “one of their most knowledgeable and passionate clients,” Karen worked with the crew of the DIY Network show Barnwood Builders to design a double pen log cabin that is now a vacation rental on her lakeside property in Alabama. Barnwood Lodge, which opened in 2016, is Karen’s fourth pre-Civil War log cabin that she has restored, and with space to sleep up to 28 people, it’s also her largest project. She blogs about her projects and decorating style at barnwoodliving.com. Karen is pictured with the show’s host, Mark Bowe.

3. EPSILON TAU-CLEMSON

ASHLEY STUMPF JONES

After losing her 21-month-old daughter, Skylar, to spinal muscular atrophy in 2011, Ashley created Love Not Lost, a nonprofit organization that provides professional photographs of people facing terminal diagnoses to capture their memories and the love shared with others during the photo session. Ashley also is the owner of Shutter Sweet Photography and Skylight Creative Group. For more information, including volunteer opportunities, visit www.lovenotlost.org and follow on social media @lovenotlostorg.

4. EPSILON ALPHA-MISSOURI S&T

KATE WASEM

Kate received the Distinguished Young Alumni Award at Missouri University of Science and Technology’s 2016 Homecoming celebration. With a degree in metallurgical engineering, Kate has worked in the manufacturing industry in technical, sales and marketing, operations and management roles. She is co-founder and vice president of the Tennessee Chapter of the Association of Women in the Metals Industry and a member of Junior League of St. Louis. She serves Kappa Delta as a national housing resource specialist, vice president of the St. Louis Alumnae Chapter and president of Epsilon Alpha House Corporation.

5. THETA GAMMA-BROWN

STEPHANIE GUANG

MedStar Health awarded Stephanie, a public health-focused biomedical engineer, a MedStar Health for America fellowship, placing her on a team with three other young professionals working to create an innovative solution for improving stroke care. For 10 months, ending on July 31, 2017, the fellows are immersing themselves in all aspects of the disease, including stroke simulations and interaction with patients and clinicians, in their effort to create a novel solution for stroke care.

6. GAMMA XI-KENTUCKY WESLEYAN

LAUREN MAYHEW BOWES

Halifax, Nova Scotia, is home now for Lauren and her husband, Corey, and it’s the site of their new business, Postcard Portables, a franchise company specializing in mini-billboard and other high-impact signage. The entrepreneurial couple moved to Corey’s native Halifax after most recently residing in Moncton, New Brunswick, where they owned and operated an ice-cream shop. Lauren is already active in the local business community and the Halifax chapter of the Canadian Progress Club.